Cholera Appears in New York.

Five Deaths Reported This Afternoon.

The Health Officer in His Official Report Says So.

No Denying the Fact—The Scourge is Here and We Must Fight It.

Prohibitory Immigration is Inevitable and the President Should Hasten the Order.

New York, Sept. 14.—2:30 p. m.—Board of health reports a case of Asaitic cholera in this city but will not state where.

2:45 p. m.—There have been four deaths from Asaitic cholera in this city within the past few days. This fact has just been announced by the health board.

3:30 p. m.—The board of health officials announce five deaths from Asiatic cholera as follows: Charles McEvoy, who died Sept. 6, address unknown; Mrs. Sophia Wigman, died Sept. 10, at 768 Eleventh avenue; William Wigman, husband of Sophia, died at the same address on the following day; Minnie Levinger, a child, died on Sept. 11, at 411 East Forty-sixth street; Carlotta Beck, aged thirty, died yesterday at 464 Second avenue. All of these cases were originally reported by the health department as suspected cholera and have been under the investigation of the physicians connected with the department. Prof. Herman Biggs has been at work making examinations of the intestinal fluids taken from the bodies of these suspected cases. Professor Biggs reported to the health department today the result of the examination and announced unhesitatingly that the cases were Asiatic cholera beyond any doubt.

Quarantine, S. I., Sept. 14.—Dr. Walser fears the effects of the heavy early morning rains and the extreme humidity on the health of those confined on the ships and islands in the lower bay and while it does not necessarily mean an increase of cholera cases, it is favorable to the propogation of cholera germs and may result in the more ordinary sickness due to confinement in crowded quarters.

Dr. Byron reports at noon to Dr. Jenkins as follows: "Have been on board ships; all well. The steamer Heligoland arrived this morning from Hamburg. The captain reports that he sailed on August 29. On the 30th Sailor Balandis took sick, vomiting and diarrhea; died 31st. On September 2nd the carpenter, J. D. Hoffman, reported sick and died on the 2rd. Since then no sickness. She has on board as a crew thirty-two men and one woman. The ship is in good condition and the crew healthy. The steamer has been ordered to remain in lower quarantine. The Heligoland is a German oil tank.

Babylon, L. I., Sept. 14.—The situation in Babylon at an early hour this morning was unchanged from that of last evening. Colonel Austen is determined to stay here with his troops until he hears from his superior officers. Sheriff Darling, of Suffolk county, is anxious that the militia be sent home, as he considers that the affairs at Fire Island and the villages on the Great South Bay are now in a tranquil and peaceable condition. The storm still continues this morning with unabated fury. Rain has been falling all night and the scenes this morning at an early hour were of a desolate and bleak character. Colonel Austen and his regiment, the Thirteenth, of Brooklyn, are on duty, notwithstanding Sheriff Darling's advice that the men be sent back to the armory by the first train. Colonel Austen says he will wait here until Dr. Jenkins returns from Fire Island, when he will have a consultation with him and decide on what policy to pursue. He intimated to a United Press reporter at 6 o'clock this morning that according to his knowledge of the situation at that hour he thought some of the men would be sent back to Brooklyn this afternoon. A company or two with the men from the naval reserve will perhaps be needed to keep order at Fire Island and they may be detailed for duty there. The men of the Thirteenth are not very anxious to go there and take chances of being quarantined for some time. They had a rough experience during the Buffalo strike, where they were stationed in the most dangerous positions, and some of the boys grumbled a little that they should have been selected on this occasion. The total number of officers and men on duty of the Thirteenth regiment number 425 men.

RAILWAY ELECTIONS.

The Clover Leaf Selects a Board of Directors.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 14.—The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City Railroad company was held at the company's office in this city today. The following directors were elected: S. H. Kneeland, J. S. Stout, Randolph F. Purdy, R. G. Ingersoll, Francis L. Russ, W. Howard Gilder, Robert Harris and J. O. Osgood, all of New York; S. R. Callaway, Clarence Brown and M. L. Crowell, of Toledo, and F. J. Sawyer, of Buffalo.

A STORMY PASSAGE.

The Pegasus Encounters a Terrific Sea and Returns to New York Harbor.

New York, Sept. 14.—The iron steamboat Pegasus, with the men of the Sixty-ninth regiment and the naval reserves aboard, arrived at her dock this morning after a hard night's battle with a heavy sea and a southeast storm. Much anxiety was felt last night when no news was received up to midnight of the arrival of the boat at Fire island. It was very rough on the ocean and some fears were had that the boat might have met with an accident. The naval reserves and the Sixty-ninth regiment were marched to their armories were they were dismissed by the governor's orders. A reporter who was aboard the Pegasus sent a report of the experiences of the soldiers and reserves this morning. The boat arrived at Fire Island light, two miles off shore at 6 o'clock last night. It was then so dark that the captain decided that the only safe thing to do was to put back to New York. It was blowing a heavy gale from the southeast and the seas were pounding the Pegasus hard. The pilot was unable to find the can bouy that marks the entrance to Fire Island Inlet. It would have been certain destruction for the Pegasus and her living freight of 500 men to have attempted to run through the inlet in the darkness and so the steamboat was headed back for Sandy Hook with scarcely enough coal to make the run. One big wave boarded the steamer at the port after-gangway, smashing the bulwarks, and another drove a plank out of the deck. At last the lights of Sandy Hook came in view Captain Pierce pointed the boat straight for the light which was passed at 10 o'clock. It was even worse than outside and the boat was pounded all the way up the ship channel. Just off lower quarantine the Pegasus nearly ran down the naval reserves' old ship, the New Hampshire. The old hulk showed only one peak light. By stopping the Pegasus promptly, a collision was avoided.

IN THE HARBOR.

The Situation at Fire Island Unchanged—The Latest From Quarantine.

Quarantine, S. I., Sept. 14.—Dr. Jenkins says the Normannia's passengers will probably be released from Fire Island tomorrow. The Rugia's passengers, he expected, would be transferred to the New Hampshire today.

The following is Dr. Byron's report, dated 9:44 p. m., September 13: "Swinburne Island—One death, Scaraki Sarison, aged twenty-seven, admitted September 9, died September 13. This is the death reported yesterday caused by gastritis and alcoholism. Nine transferred to Hoffman island. Two transferred to the quarantine ward, one subject transferred to the sick ward. The doctor was unable to visit the ships yesterday afternoon or evening on account of the gale.

The White Star steamer Majestic, which arrived in quarantine this morning from Liverpool, brings 507 cabin and no steerage passengers. She reports all well on board.

New York, Sept. 14.—The steamship companies are paying a heavy penalty for their carelessness with their steerage passengers as may be seen from the fact that the North German Lloyd steamship Spree left this port yesterday for Bremen with only three first cabin and twenty-five second cabin passengers. She carried no steerage passengers. The Hamburg-American liner Columbia will sail today from Southampton without a single passenger, cabin or steerage, and without a single ounce of freight.

London, Sept. 14.—A dispatch to the London Times from Hamburg says: "The highest figures of the epidemic in Hamburg show that daily one person in a thousand of the population is afflicted and that over one half of those attacked recover. It is not too much to say that healthy stomachs are cholera proof. Humanly speaking no one need catch the disease unless he or she likes."

Amsterdam, Sept. 14.—There was one death from cholera yesterday in Maaslauis, south Holland. A case of cholera is reported at Elburg, a town on the Sauder See.

FIRE AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Storage Building Burned—Loss Over $200,000.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 14.—The Union Transfer and Storage company's buildings and contents burned at 2 o'clock this morning. Loss, $200,000; insured. School building No. 9 is near by, and James McClellan, son of the janitor, got on top of the building to see the fire, fell off and was killed instantly.

The Humane society is pleased to receive $20 from the city toward defraying the expenses of the Humane agent. The sum, however, is smaller than cities of less pretensions than Fort Wayne are contributing for the same purpose.

SIXTEEN MURDERS.

The Choctaw Indians, Maddened by the Result of an Election, Turn Assassins.

Denison, Texas, Sept. 14.—A prominent official of the Choctaw nation last night, said: "I have authentic news that sixteen men have been assassinated. The killing was done by a mob of twenty-eight Indians. They started to kill Green McCurtin, our national treasurer and a very inilential man. He may be dead now. I look for killing by the wholesale within the next twenty-four or forty-eight hours at the latest. Governor Jones is on the ground with a small force of militia; but will have a sufficent force of men in a few hours to either arrest or kill the assassins. All of the present trouble in my county grows out of the recent election. The Jackson party is crying "fraud" and the newspapers have worked them up to a state of frenzy. All of the election boxes are sealed and can not be tampered with. They will be opened in the house of representatives when the council convenes in October. Governor Jones is a fine man, and if the returns give Jackson a majority the governor will step down and out. The report that Jackson is elected can not be relied on, for the result is not known. The official vote will decide that when the council meets in October. It will certainly require the presence of United States troops to prevent blodshed."

McAllister, I. T., Sept. 14.—At a conference held here last night, called and arranged by Indian Agent Bennett, to establish peace and preserve tranquility among the Choctaw people, the following persons were present: Wilson N. K. Jones, principal chief; Leo E. Bennett, Indian agent; E. N. Wright and W. W. Hompton, of the progressive party; Joe Gardner, A. N. Anderson and Daniel Bell, of the national party, and Charles Lallore, captain of Indian police of the United States. The situation was discussed fully. It was unanimously agreed that in order to amicably adjust the present trouble, all armed bodies of men shall immediately disband and by 12 o'clock noon today (Wednesday) all persons who participated in the killing of Joe Hek, Frank Fraziel, Elias Colbert and Robert Nelson, shall surrender to the constituted authorities of the nation to answer before the courts, and while in custody the prisoners shall be protected from all violence. The convention agreed to the request made yesterday by Governor Jones, of Agent Bennett, that the agent be present with Indian police and soldiers at the October meeting of the Choctaw council, to see a fair count made of the votes and to insure protection to all concerned. They agreed to submit all differences to the law for settlement, and would do all in their power to allay the present excitement and preserve the peace. This agreement was signed by all present and telegrams and messengers on horseback were dispatched at midnight to all portions of the nation in an endeavor to carry out the object of the agreement. A telegram was received last night by Governor Jones stating that Sheriff Perry's house, six miles from Hartshorne, was surrounded by thirty armed men in an attempt to take his life. A messenger was dispatched on a fast horse to inform them that peace had been restored, but it is feared that he will reach there too late. If such be the case, it will renew hostilities and necessitate the calling out of troops.

WANT IMMIGRATION STOPPED.

All the Mayors of Western Cities Favor Such a Move.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14.—Mayor Pingree yesterday sent telegrams to the mayors of a large number of cities asking if they would join with Detroit in requesting the president to stop all immigration for at least ninety days. He received affirmative answers from Cleveland, Toledo, Duluth, Milwaukee, Fort Wayne, Chicago and fifteen or twenty other cities, but several other mayors did not agree to the propriety of the proposition, among them the mayor of Buffalo. At 10 o'clock last night Mayor Pingree telegraghed the president that many large western cities join Detroit in asking him to assume and exercise authority to prohibit immigration for at least thirty days.

READY FOR BUSINESS.

The Peary Exploring Party Want to Go to the Arctic Region.

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 14.—The Kite, with Lieutenant Peary's party on board, leaves here this afternoon for New York and Philadelphia. The plans of the party as to their future movements have not yet been settled. Peary says he would not object to making another Arctic exploring trip. He believes there is no permanent open sea between Greenland and Pole, but there are several detached bodies of land.

A COLORED FIEND

Attempts to Outrage a White Woman—A Mob Hangs Him.

Larned, Kas., Sept. 14.—Yesterday morning a negro named James Thompson made a brutal attempt to outrage Miss Mabel Welch at her boarding house. The brute entered her room and with a knife in his mouth fought for two hours to accomplish his purpose, but failed. The skin was peeled off her arms, neck and face, and her hands were badly cut by grasping the blade of the knife. Thompson was arrested yesterday evening in the swamps about seven miles west of the city. He was taken from the jail by a mob of 200 men last night and hanged to a telegraph pole one mile north of this city.

A POLITICAL AFFAIR.

The Republican National League of Clubs Preparing for the Convention.

Buffalo, Sept. 14.—Every train from the east and west today brought in delegates to the Republican National League of Clubs convention that is scheduled to open tomorrow. Among the earliest on the ground today were President J. S. Clarkson, of the National League, and Secretary A. B. Humphrey. Mr. Clarkson said: "Mr. Humphrey's assurances from clubs and states are sufficient indication for the success of the meeting. But in addition to that we find here today a large advance guard from far off states, such as Texas, Kansas, California and Nebraska. It will be a surprisingly big meeting." Mr. Humphry immediately opened headquarters and his register of states and clubs, and by noon a large number had registered. The program for the various meetings will not be completed until the local and general committees and the state clubs have their meeting this afternoon. So far as can be ascertained the convention will be opened tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, President Clarkson making the opening address. The report of the secretary will be read and following that the usual committees will be appointed. The next order of business will be the reports of state leagues as to the growth and work in their territories, and these will be one of the most important features of the convention. In the evening there will be a mass meeting in charge of the local committee and although the arrangements are not entirely completed the speakers will include Governor McKinley, J. Sloat Fassett, Hon. Whitelaw Reid, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster and Governor Brown, of Rhode Island. On Friday the league will consider the resolutions to be promulgated by the platform committee and will elect officers for the ensuing year. Friday afternoon the league of college clubs will have its own meeting. President James Frances Burke will make an address and after some routine business is transacted Governor McKinley will address the assemblage. Friday morning Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, president of the Women's association, will call to order a meeting of women and Hon. Whitelaw Reid is expected to make an address. Friday night there is to be a parade reviewed by the notables present. The delay in arranging definitely the program is due to the death of the mother of Tracey Becker, who is chairman of the local reception committee. State Committeeman John R. Satchle is now acting in his place. The proceedings of the convention are likely to be quite lengthy because of the many prominent speakers present, all of whom will be asked to make a few remarks.

ANOTHER CHESTNUT.

St. Louis Thrown Into Excitement by a False Cholera Alarm.

St. Louis, Sept. 14.—Considerable excitement was occasioned at the union depot this morning by a report that cholera existed among a party of immigrants which arrived from the east at 9 o'clock. The health authorities sent physicians to the depot and on investigation it was found that the party, consisting of twenty-one persons, arrived at New York last Friday on the steamer Elbe, from Bremen. They had a clean bill of health from the New York authorities; also from the health officer at Buffalo. The immigrants are in good health and were allowed to keep on their journey. They are destined for New Orleans and Texas points.

THE FURNESSIA

Goes to the Assistance of a Steamer in Distress.

London, Sept. 14.—The steamer Scandinavian, which sailed from Boston on September 3 for Glasgow, reported at Greenock on arriving today that on September 10, 500 miles west of Troy island, it passed the Anchor line steamship Ethiopia, from Glasgow to New York, with the engines apparently out of gear. On September 11 the Scandinavian met the steamer Furnessia, of the Anchor line, from Glasgow for New York, and signalled to that vessel the condition of the Ethiopia. The Furnessia at once went to the assistance of the Ethiopia.

LACK OF HARMONY

At Jefferson Barracks Results in the Removal of Captain Robinson.

St. Louis, Sept. 14.—A sensation in military circles has been created here by the announcement that Captain Robinson, of the famous Seventh cavalry, and for months past the assistant quartermaster at Jefferson barracks, has been removed and assigned to duty at San Antonio, Tex. The order is to take effect September 16. No reason is given for the transfer, but it is believed that it is the result of a lack of harmony among the military officials at the barracks.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

A Crowded Gallery Falls, Injuring Several People.

Guthrie, Sept. 14.—At the session of the republican convention yesterday afternoon the gallery on the east side of the house gave way, precipitating men and chairs upon the people below. In the panic many were trampled upon and badly bruised and injured. W. C. Roy, of Orlando, was fatally injured, Judge W. T. Mahara had a rib broken and arm crushed, and Albert Jennings suffered internal injuries.

VERY CRITICAL.

Mrs. Harrison's Condition is Such as to Cause Grave Fears for Her Recovery.

Loon Lake House, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Drs. Gardiner, Doughty and Trideau held a consultation at the Prests cottage this forenoon on the condition of Mrs. Harrison and at its conclusion issued the following bulletin: "Primary disease or tuberculosis of right side associated with nervous prostration. Recent complication, sub-acute plueris with rapid effusion of water in the right chest necessitating two tappings with some relief. Present condition critical on account of tendency to reproduction of fluid; removal to Washington at present impossible; prognostication as to immediate future uncertain." The physicians refuse to make any more extended statement. The President is very anxious.

Loon Lake House, N. Y., Sept 14, 3:30 p. m.—Drs. Doughty and Gardiner have just concluded a visit to Mrs. Harrison. They report that she is resting very easy but that no change in her condition has occurred. The patient is taking liquid nourishment every two hours.

Mrs. Harrison lies in a critical condition, and the president and other members of the executive family are prepared for the worst. There is no attempt at concealing the true condition of the president's wife on the part of the physicians and the others about the bedside of the invalid. It has been decided to issue a bulletin if any decided change for the worse or better should show itself.

Three physicians are in constant attendance. Dr. Gardner, the family physician, who came from Washington with Mrs. Harrison: Dr. Doughty, of New York, an eminent specialist in pulmonary cases, and Dr. Trudeau, of Saranac Lake, who is noted in the Adirondack region for his treatment of lung diseases. Dr. Doughty arrived at Loon Lake from New York at 12:30 o'clock this morning and went immediately with Dr. Gardner to Mrs. Harrison's bedside. The patient was sleeping quietly at the moment, however, and it was decided to postpone the intended examination. This morning Dr. Trudeau arrived and the three physicians made an examination and then issued the bulletin.

The physicians advise the president's family to hope for the best, but offer no real encouragement and it is said, have quietly intimated to the president the strong probability of a fatal result. The president now rarely leaves Mrs. Harrison's bedside and really shares the nursing of the invalid with a professional attendant. Russell Harrison and Mrs. McKee the president's son and daughter, are here. The former was summoned from New York as soon as the disease took a dangerous turn and arrived here this morning. Mrs. Dimmick and Mrs. Parker, nieces of Mrs. Harrison, are also present. Private Secretary Halford will remain with the president until the latter goes to Washington. Unless there should be a decided improvement in Mrs. Harrison's condition within the next few days, in which there is little prospect at present, the president will not return to Washington in time for the Grand Army encampment next week, if indeed he is not detained here for several weeks beyond that period.

BIG FAILURE.

A Chicago Furniture Company Financially Embarrassed.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Spiegle & Co., furniture dealers, at 249 State street, confessed judgments today aggregating nearly $100,000. The liabilites of the firm are about $150,000, and the assets are about equal to the liabilities. The collapse was due to dullness of trade.

Two New Explosives.

Herculite is the invention of a Frenchman, and, owing to its qualities of slow combustion and safety; is claimed to be superior as an explosive to nitro-glycerine. It is a yellowish gray powder, and is composed of sawdust, camphor, nitrate of potash and several other ingredients. Experiments conducted in a quarry showed that a shot could not be fired by sparks, flame or detonation, a special igniter being required. It is said to be possessed of tremendous power, while its cost is only about six cents a pound.

Nico is the name of an explosive which was recently subjected to a number of tests at quarries near Melbourne, Australia. It is intended for use for mining purposes to supersede powder in the various nitro-glycerine compounds. In the experiments the large quantity of rock loosened by moderate charges of the explosive clearly demonstrated its power.

They were a party of Chicagoans at Parker's. One asked the waiter, "What is q-u-a-h-o-g chowder?" (spelling the word.) And when all had learned that the baby quahogs are little neck clams, one of the Chicagoans smiling, said, "Well, it sounds homelike," and another jocosely remarked, "I thought quahog must be some form of pork."

There is a young fellow in a wholesale house who is not particularly strong on spelling. The other day he made out a shipping bill for "fourty" barrels of flour. When his employer called his attention to the peculiar spelling of the word forty he said: "Oh, yes; how very careless of me, I left out the gh!"

"Well," said Mrs. Bruggins, after a solo by a fashionable church choir tenor, "if that ain't the rudest thing I ever saw!" "What?" inquired her niece. "Why, didn't you notice it? Just as soon as that young man began to sing every other member of the choir stopped. But he went right through with it, and I must say I admire his spunk."

IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

A Saloon Keeper Robbed of $34—The News in the Various Courts.

A robbery in broad daylight is an uncommon occurrence, but such a thing took place this morning.

About 9 o'clock a sneak thief entered the saloon of O. W. Siebert, at 303 West Main street, and, finding no one there, proceeded to look around.

He espied a pocketbook back of the bar, and, stepping back, put it in his pocket and hastily left the saloon.

Mr. Siebert reported the robbery to the police and said the pocketbook contained $34. There is no clue as to the guilty party.

He is about thirty-three years old and has a wife and children, one a daughter about twelve years old. Dinklager was adjudged insane and will be taken to the insane asylum.

The interest about the court house yesterday was centered in the commissioners' room. A trial was being had over the application of Joseph Baum, of the East Columbia street, five cent house, for a license to sell liquor. The room was crowded with witnesses, many prominent business men having been subpoenaed. The remonstrants were represented by Attorneys Worden & Morris, and Attorneys H. C. Hanna and J. M. Robinson were for the applicant.

Martin Gay obtained a judgemnt in Justice Ryan's court against the Abbott Mineral company for $36.

A fellow who was begging from saloon to saloon was fined $1 and costs in police court by the mayor this morning.

William Weeks was fined $1 and costs in police court this morning for provoking Ed Raffert. Officer Waldo made the arrest. This disturbance occurred at the place of C. Gluck.

ADJUSTING MATTERS.

The Pennsylvania Company Make Up a Deficit in the Relief Department.

Under the regulations of the relief department of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, at the end of each three years the surplus must be adjusted and matters generally squared up. The third year was completed August 1, and the adjustment has been made by the executive committee. The Northwestern system, which is the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago and the Pittsburg and Cleveland roads, show a surplus of $7,866, but the Southwestern system, which is the P., C., C. & St. L., including the I. & V., owing to a large number of cases of grip, comes out of the third year with a deficit of $20,761, which has been made up by the railroad company.

A SEVERE GALE

Prevails on the Atlantic Coast—Much Damage Done.

Many small boats were sunk and a fine yacht owned by Charles Understiller, of the Nyack Yacht club, wes broken to yieces. A number of other large craft were considerably damaged. There was a heavy wind and rain all night and the tide was unusually high.

A BIG SCARE.

Some Idiot Reports Cholera at Ada, O.—The Report Promptly Denied.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 14.—The health officer of this city says he received a telephonic communication from Ada, Hardin county, last evening saying a train load of passengers on the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago road had been quarantined there with ten cases of cholera on board. The doctor says he regards the report as correct.

Worry is the highway to chaos.

Aspiration is the path to inspiration.

A queer result of people getting in hot water is that as a rule they are roasted.

A Paderewski Among Plants.

"Isn't this chrysanthemum a pretty flower?" asked Mrs. Snooper of her four-year-old baby girl.

"Yes'm," replied the tot, "but its hair needs brushin'."—Judge.

"It's no use, mamma," protested the tired and sleepy little girl at church. "I can't hold my eyes open another minute longer. He's only got to 'finally my brethren.'"

"Hate to give these clothes away," remarked Jagson as he opened the mildewed chest, "but it is a case of must."

DIED ON THE TRAIN.

John Bechtel Expires on the Pittsburg Limited—Other Deaths and Funerals.

John Bechtel, aged thirty-three years, died on the Pittsburg limited, No. 8 just as the train was pulling into the Fort Wayne depot last evening. The deceased was a native of Center county, Pa., which place he left some time ago in search of health, being afflicted with consumption. He went to Manhattan, Kas., where relatives resided, but instead of being benefitted by the change of climate his condition grew worse and it became evident that his days on earth were not many. Last Monday, in company with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Fearon, the deceased left Kansas for his home, hoping to arrive there before death ensued, but the trip was too severe for his enfeebled condition and he died as stated above. Undertaker Peltier prepared the remains for burial and this morning they were shipped to Beech Creek, Pa., where they will be interred. As the remains reposed on a stretcher in the waiting room at the depot some one started the report that the deceased died from cholera and the excitement for a moment was intense. Everybody had business elsewhere and the room wherein the corpse lay was soon vacated, save by a few sleepy emigrants, who were awaiting the arrival of the west-bound Grand Rapids train. Bechtel was unmarried, but he leaves a widowed mother to mourn his untimely death.

"BARBARA FRIETCHIE" AGAIN.

The Death of Whittier Gives the Old Controversy a New Lease of Life.

The death of the poet Whittier has brought out a warm controversy as to the authenticity of the story of "Barbara Frietchie," which Whittier made famous in verse. Mrs. E. D. E. N. Southworth has recently told how she heard the original story and sent it to Whittier, who subsequently wrote the poem.

Now comes Mrs. Virgil Quantrelle Brown, of Washington, in a letter to the local paper saying that it was not Barbara Frietchie at all who was the real heroine of the story, but a Mrs. Mary Quantrelle. Mrs. Brown points out several inaccuracies in the famous poem. She says: "In the first place Stonewall Jackson never was in the city of Frederick during the war; there are plenty of confederate officers of rank who will substantiate that. Secondly, at the time of the incident Mrs. Frietchie was over ninety years old and bed-ridden. Her nephew, Valerius Ebert, then mayor of the city, was a rank southener, and all of her relatives in sympathy with the south with one exception, Mr. John Ebert. I think he is still living.

"Mrs. Frietchie's husband was hanged years before in the court house yard as a tory. Now, Mrs. Southworth says she received her information from a Mr. Ramsburg. Only a few years ago I wrote Mr. Whittier asking him for information. I received a prompt reply, in which he says: 'I got my information from Mrs. Southworth, who writes me she in turn received it from Miss Dorothea Dix, who was a matron in the hospital at Frederick.' I received not only one but several letters from the poet, expressing regret that he had given publicity to a false idea, and robbed the true subject of justice."

RAILWAY RUMBLINGS.

J. H. Hobrock is Appointed Assistant To Thomas Meegan—Personal and Local Gossip.

Chief Shop Clerk Thomas Meegan, of the Pittsburg shops, denies the report that he has retired from that position as stated in one of the morning papers. A SENTINEL representative called on Mr. Meegan this morning and found that gentleman attending to the affairs of the office, as he has done for the past thirty years. In response to an inquiry he said: "No, I have not resigned. Some time ago I received notice from the officials that in consideration of my long term of service and advanced age they had decided to relieve me of a portion of the more arduous duties of the office by giving me an assistant. Yesterday the officials carried out this decision by appointing J. H. Hobrock as my assistant. I am still chief clerk and expect to retain that position so long as my services are acceptable to the company, though I am relieved of much of the hard work."

Mr. Meegan has faithfully served the Pittsburg company for thirty years and it is gratifying to him to know that his employers have appreciated his services. J. H. Hobrock, the newly appointed assistant, is a young man of fine business qualifications and will fill the position with efficiency and to the satisfaction of the company's officials.

Last night, about 11 o'clock, passenger train No. 6, on the Grand Rapids, ran into a Wabash freight train at the LaOtta crossing, knocking several freight cars off the track and slightly damaging the Grand Rapids engine. The accident was caused by the air brakes on the passenger failing to work. No one was injured.

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock the elevator rope at the Old works broke just as the elevator, heavily loaded and with three men on it, reached the second story. The entire load fell with great force, smashing the elevator and its freight and badly shaking up, though not seriously injuring the men. In its fall it also broke the main gas pipe, four inches in diameter, and the shops were filled with gas before it could be turned off. The break was caused by the elevator being overloaded.

The roads running into Chicago are lavish in their expenditures to accommodate the World's fair business. The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy lead off with a $10,000,000 appropriation for this addition to their traffic, the Pennsylvania followed with an $8,000,000 appropriation, the Illinois Central came next with $5,000,000. The Baltimore and Ohio, the Lake Shore, the Michigan Central, the Chicago and Alton, the Chicago and Rock Island, the Santa Fe, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Chicago and Northwestern and the Wabash are putting in amounts ranging from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000 and other roads smaller sums, but in the aggregate it will be fully $50,000,000 which the thirty or more roads will expend, chiefly at Chicago, on account of the anticipated business of the World's fair.

MANUFACTUAE OF ICE.

The Machines That Are Used and What Led to the Woncerful Invention.

As for ice the Hindoo maker, either of ancient or modern times, "isn't in it" with the Yankee of today. The question of its use has been debatable through the ages. Aristotle said it was unhealthy, but opposed to the dictum of the wonderful Greek is the declaration of Solomon, who writes in "Proverbs:" "As the cold of snow in time of harvest, so is a faithful messenger to them that send him, for he refreshes the soul of his masters."

The Caucasian of the present seems to indorse Solomon and ignore Aristotle, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. At any rate the annual harvest of natural ice in the United States is now nearly 35,000,000 tons, and this often being insufficient for the demand, as before hinted, Yankee genius has made good the deficit. Professor Twining, of New Haven, owes his distinction to the fact that forty years ago he demonstrated the feasibility of making ice in large quantities by the use of chemicals. Sulphuric ether was the principal agent employed by him and the method he adopted is still known as the "compression" system. Subsequent tests, however, showed that anhydrous ammonia, or ammonia gas, best answered the purpose of artificial refrigeration.

"There are," says a recent authority, "three principal parts in the complete ice or refrigerating machine—the engine and ammonia pumps, in which the dry gas is compressed to the point of liquefaction; a condenser, in which the compressed gas is cooled into a liquid form, and a series of evaporating coils, in which they are plunged. The ammonia is applied to the machine from heavy iron drums, it being first allowed to enter the evaporating coils, when it is drawn into the compression pumps, liquefaction and expansion.

"The ice machine is really a cold producing machine, and is used chiefly for refrigerating purposes. There are two methods, the direct expansion system and the brine system. By the former plan the gas expands into coils disposed in the rooms to be cooled; by the latter plan the coils are immersed in huge iron or steel tanks, their size varying with the size of the plant. These tanks are filled with brine, which rapidly falls to a temperature far below freezing. From these tanks the intensely cold brine circulates through a system of pipes and returns again and again to the tank. This is the usual plan followed:

"In the making of ice cans or molds are plunged into the brine tanks and distilled water is frozen in the cans. The complete method is as follows: The exhaust steam, after it has done the compressing of the ammonia gas, is utilized. The steam is passed through a volume of water to wash it in order to take out the oil or traces of oil. The steam is then filtered and condensed into water again. The same water is used for cooling the compressed ammonia gas before the liquefaction of said gas takes place. After the water has been condensed it is never allowed to be exposed to the atmosphere, but is kept in a system of pipes up to the time that it is filled into the cans or molds in which the ice is frozen.

"The water passes through the filter and condenser into a so-called regulator, which works automatically, and thence is taken into a deodorizer for the purpose of doing away with the unpleasant taste and smell of condensed water. This deodorizer is chiefly composed of animal charcoal. From the deodorizer the water circulates through a system of pipes, and is cooled by the machine again to a temperature of from 32 to 35 degrees.

"Thence it enters into the molds or cans. To freeze a block of ice, say of 300 pounds, requires sixty hours of constant work under a temperature of about 18 to 30 degs. Fahrenheit. It is necessary to freeze slowly in order to get absolutely crystal-clear ice. Then it is taken out, sawed into suitable sized blocks, and is ready for delivery to customers." For a plant which will turn out fifteen tons in twenty-four hours the running cost is estimated at $1.50 per ton. This of course does not include the outlay on the original investment for machinery.

Nearly every large city of the United States now has from one to a dozen establishments where ice is manufactured. All of them are said to be doing a profitable business and the annual output is estimated at 8,000,000 tons.

So it will be seen, man's ingenuity can overcome almost any difficulty, and in case of a "hot winter" no one need go without a supply of ice at reasonable cost. The "coal famine" is so remote that it may be relegated to the consideration of those yet unborn. By the aid of alcohol, electricity and other devices yet to be utilized our descendants will probably be able to struggle along and find comfort and even luxury on this gray old planet we call the earth, even if Dame Nature does turn cranky.

SEA-GOING RATTLESNAKES.

Stories of Their Exploits as Navigators Off the Coast of Texas.

It is generally accepted that the poisonous rattler is a dry land snake. But, like a great many other popular beliefs, this is wide of the mark. On the Texas coast we have a great many broad bodies of water, and frequently mile after mile of trackless waste intervenes between point and point or island and island. The experienced boatmen who travel these broad bays and bayous can tell a different story about the rattler. They know that his favorite place of abode is along the water fronts, where sufficient brush or other means of a few miles is but a pastime. Said an old boatman yesterday:

"I have seen rattlers swimming far out in Matagorda Bay, at least eight miles from the nearest point of land. They seem to have a location in view, and nothing can make them turn back or depart from their course. I have tried to make them face about or move along a different point of compass, but all to no purpose. The snake loses much of his courage and ferocity in the water, for instinct teaches him that he can not strike to advantage. He swims well, and will try to escape, and I have known him to dive, but the regular route will always be resumed, and the bee returning to the hive with a deposit of gathered sweets to be converted into honey could not be more exact."

It is the testimony of all who have made a study of the rattler that he will always try to return to the place of birth. We have an illustration of this instinct on the Texas coast.

Fronting on the Gulf of Mexico in places are low sand islands partly covered with cactus, brush and other vegetation, in addition to the native grasses. These islands are the homes of hundreds of rattlers. They were submerged in the great storm of 1875 and every living thing washed away, and not a snake remained. They were found in swarms on the mainland for days after the storm, but it was noticed that they gradually disappeared, and it was soon discovered that they returned home by swimming across the bays and bayous, and the succeeding season found as many of the dangerous reptiles on the islands as ever. No rattler was drowned, and the hope entertained by the returning people that they were all destroyed was soon dispelled.

THE ONLY WAY OUT.

The Practical Joker and His True Relation to Idiocy.

The bible story that all things are made for a purpose is the only excuse for the existence of the dude and the practical joker. God, in his infinite wisdom, has some purpose in allowing them to exist, but man is too obtuse to see the cause.

The dude—well, the Bradford Era tearfully admits that nothing need be said about the dude.

But the practical joker is open to any remarks that anybody feels disposed to offer. He is, to start with, the making of a first-idiot. A man who has sense enough to know that he is not at liberty to amuse himself at the expense of the lives, the happiness and the health of others could never be a practical joker.

He would stop to ask himself if harm might result from his idiotic attempts to amuse himself at the expense of his neighbors, and once he should stop to consider he would see that his folly fororan danger. No man of sense would attempt to frighten his neighbor so seriously as to cause him death. No man who has as much brain as the fellow whose head burst because it got an idea in it would even point a gun at a companion and threaten to shoot in order to joke a little. It is only a thoughtless, brainless ass who will wound a sensitive person's feelings with a stupid joke, paying no attention to the consequences.

The practical joker was made for something, but what it was is a mystery. He never gives any evidence of it. It is accepted as a fact merely on the general principle that the Creator makes no mistakes. But the joker is as near a mistake as is possible without being one.

Fruit House Prices for 1892.

The season of 1892 opens auspicious for the purchaser. There are few lines of goods but what there has been a decline in, and especially in sugars, but also in Coffees, Raisins and California Dried and Canned Fruits. When Sugars touched 5c for Granulated every one felt as this would be bottom, for that was a plump reduction of 2c per pound, but now Granulated is 4½, another half-cent decline. At no time in World's History has Sugars been so low as now. We even sell a good

Coffee—The reduction of 3c per pound which we made last circular still holds good, although in Rio and New York there has been a stiffening up of prices of about 1 and 2c per pound, but we having a good large stock purchased when the market was down, we are enabled to continue our reduction of 3c per pound on all grades of Rio, Java and Mocha.

TEAS! TEAS! TEAS!

The Tea Market has undergone no change, indeed they are so cheap now, that there is little likelyhood of their going lower. The trade in them is growing rapidly. We now sell twenty chests, where we formerly sold one. The secret of our great Tea trade lies in the fact that we purchase direct of the importer, and retail direct to our customers, thereby saving them the profit of the jobber and wholesale merchant which is at least 10 to 20c per pound.

All German Democrats are earnestly requested to be present at the meeting to be held at the democratic headquarters, 32 East Berry street, this evening, for the purpose of completing the organization of the German Democratic club. From the present outlook this club promises to be one of the most powerful political organizations in the city.

The water basin in the reservoir is now receiving its brick lining. This work will occupy four weeks and when completed water will be turned on. Then the workmen will sod the exterior, giving the huge pile of earth a pleasing appearance. The reservoir, which has for so many years been an "eye-sore" to the southern part of the city, will soon be transformed into a thing of beauty.

This is the way Texas editors abuse one another: "W. D. Bell, editor of the Athens Review, brands Monroe Drew, of the Kemp Herald, as 'an idiotic fool, a liar, a whining, whelpish cowark, a sneak, a cur, a menial spaniel, a buzzards' friend who feeds on the woodpeckers, a dirth, filthy, low lived scoundrel, without honor, without shame, blackguard who takes advantage of distance to vituperate a man, a cowardly libeler and slanderer, and a pusillanimous puppy with a nature lower than the lowest animal, and we publish him as such to the world."

Last night at her home on West Washington street, Miss Maggie Allen gave a delightful progressive pedro party. After a selected number of games were played a light repast was served. Miss Carrie Unger and Frank Pence carried off the honors, which entitled them to the first prizes, while Miss Ida Cook and Clifford Smith protected the booby table long enough to carry the booby prizes away with them. Those present were: Misses Maggie Allen, Ida Cook, Frances Carsen, Emma Rogge, Tillie Steinhauser, Carrie Unger Louise Krownmiller, Maude Correy, Lottie Miller and Messrs. Clifford Smith, Earl Jennson, Charles Lapp, Fred Boltz, Frank Pence, Frank Barlet, Phil Heller, Charles Bowen and John Hinkerbottom.

Last night at 8:30 at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyers, on the corner of Main and Osage streets, Miss Lizzie Stealer, of Milwaukee, and Joseph Meyers, of the Horton Manufacturing company, were united in marriage by 'Squire Hays. The bride's family were unable to attend owing to the sickness of her mother. Many beautiful and handsome presents were received from their large circle of friends. A reception followed the wedding and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Meyers will be at home next week on Cherry street, Nebraska, to their many friends. Those present were: The Messrs. and Mesdames John Carl, George Streib, James Druit, Dick Meyers, Mrs. Adie McFeeley, Miss Miles and the Messrs. George and Theodore Waldo, Dr. William Meyers, William Edsall, George and Peter Houtze, Al Schaeferstein, John Spangler, Charles Studer, George DeWald, Joseph Hartman and Curtis Kelley.

Mayor C. A. Zollinger will leave Saturday for Washington, D. C.

Miss Kennedy, of Cincinnati, is visiting Miss Jennie Ninde, of South Fairfield avenue.

Clifford Morganthaler and Will Peltier left this afternoon for Chicago to be gone several days.

The sons of soldiers of the Union club will hold a meeting tomorrow night for the purpose of electing officers.

Mrs. Mary Everly, of Canton, Ill., who has been visiting the family of H. A. Philley, of Victoria avenue, is visiting in the country at the home of her niece, Mrs. Web Simmers.

D. Nestel, the proprietor of the Broadway nursery, laid upon our table today samples of the California grapes and pears raised by him. They are fine specimens. Mr. Nestel has the finest fruit place in the state.

Miss Minnie Narwold, of East Lewis street, was very pleasantly surprised last evening by a number of her friends, who reminded her that it was her seventeenth birthday. Cards and music were the diversions of the occasion. Lunch was served at 11 o'clock.

J. H. Boyd, Chicago; C. D. Spaulding; Grand Rapids; S. J. Hayes, Brennen; B. L. Long, Lagrange; A. C. Wilson, Auburn; A. J. Williams, Bristol; D. Matthews, Grand Rapids; W. S. Davis, Peru, and E. H. Cohen, Cleveland, are registered at the Rich.

This morning at 11:30 a delivery team belonging to J. B. White ran away while the driver was delivering groceries on West Wayne street. The team ran east on Wayne street to Clinton street and north on that street to the corner of Superior, where it was stopped. What was most remarkable was that no collisions occurred and that no damage was done.

Monday night, about 8 o'clock, burglars attempted to force an entrance into the residence of Mrs. Thomas, at 173 Jackson street. The family had been absent for a short time in the evening, and returned just in time to see a couple of fellows trying to pry up one of the rear windows. An alarm was raised and the burglars hastily left without procuring any booty.

Paul Mosman and Herbert Rowe are passengers on the steamer Furnesia, which sailed from Glasgow, Scotland, a few days ago and is due at New York tomorrow evening. The arrival of the ship is looked for with considerable anxiety by the relatives and friends of the young men. Will she be all right, or will the yellow flag be displayed? This is the question uppermost in the minds of the anxious friends.

A horse belonging to J. T. Ramsey, the broommaker, which was hitched in front of the postoffice, became frightened this morning and began to rear and jump around at a lively gait. A boy cut the hitching strap and the horse started on a run down Berry street. At Ogden's plumbing establishment the runaway horse collided with a buggy and was stopped by Stephenson, a driver of one of the transfer trucks. No damage, save a wrecked buggy.

TALK ABOUT STRIKES.

An Interesting Article on the Subject —Remedies Suggested.

This is the subject of a most interesting article in the current number of the Review of Reviews, the article being a comprehensive recapitulation of the findings of the Australian investigation of this question.

More and more the English speaking people have reason to look upon the Australian neighbor as a mentor in methods of local government and as the leader in social and economic investigation. The ballot system now adopted in nearly all of our states came from Australia. No doubt the same troubles and experiences worry the people of that far away country, but enough is known of their temperament to say that any disturbances of government or social relations are speedily followed with an effort and determination to find a remedy. Thus it is that we have the report of a special committee to examine into the nature of strikes and point the remedy.

The immediate cause of the investigation was the tremendous strike in New South Wales in 1890, which began with the sheep shearers and which, before it was declared off, involved nearly every trades union in the colonies and cost untold millions of loss in trade and wages.

The difference between the people of Australia and the United States is very apparent in the two treatments of such a serious situation. Here, a strike is lamented, made the subject of intense discussion for a day or a week, dropped, and little real effort made to correctly solve and permanently settle difficulties between employes and employers. There, the whole people more determinedly, in the interest of individual and government.

A royal commission on strikes was appointed, consisting of eight representatives of labor, eight of capital and Hon. Andrew Garran, L. L. D., who was made president of the board by government appointment. The report of the commission is just published and makes a volume of 1,000 pages the size of the Century dictionary. The commission proceeded with its work upon nonpartisan lines, and with a determination to render a public service. The laws, customs and experiences of trade in every known country were examined and collated for ready reference. The conclusions of all efforts at voluntary and enforced settlements of strikes were compiled for review and the subject was handled from motives of best intentions toward every class of citizenship.

After thorough investigation and long discussion in detail of everything bearing upon the question the commission was able to make a report which received the unanimous approval of the commission. It will readily be seen that such a report must have immediate effect upon the industrial question in the colonies, and the commission being so thoroughly representative of the extremes of the subject their unanimous agreement must always have the effect of law with all classes.

The commission agree that the interests of the public are paramount to those of the individual, and from this basic conclusion they point the remedy of strikes. They recommend the appointment of permanent boards of conciliation and arbitration, to be called to work any time by either party in trade dispute. When acting as a conciliatory board each side of the particular dispute shall appoint two or more representatives to serve jointly with the permanent board. The duty of the conciliators shall be to bring the disputants to an amicable agreement, if not in whole, in part, and eliminate as far as possible the minor differences. As strikes frequently begin with trifles it is believed the board of conciliation will be able in most instances to settle differences between employees and employers.

Where conciliation fails then the permanent board, appointed by law, continues to sit, without any additional membership, as a board of arbitration with power of thorough investigation and recommendation. The commission did not clothe the arbitrators with the power of legal adjudication, but believed a final report after having passed the stages of conciliation and arbitration would have such effect upon the general public as to influence the parties directly in dispute to settlement upon the basis outlined by the board.

In support of the effort to find a remedy for strikes the report of the royal commission was accepted by the colonists as a method worthy to be incorporated in the laws of the country and this has been done in New South Wales with satisfactory results. Conciliation first, arbitration second. There are double elements of fairness in the suggestion and the plan here outlined which are worthy the study of our own people. Of course, back of our own increasing troubles are economic causes which must be studied, politically, and fairly and intelligently, and settled by the masses for the masses, but this feature is extraneous to the settlement of strikes, as discussed by the Australian commission to which this article refers.
